

UNOE develops mobile app to connect neighborhoods

Segann March, Evansville Courier & Press

Published 2:06 p.m. CT Nov. 30, 2018

(Photo: Courtesy of United Neighborhoods of Evansville)

CONNECT

TWEET

LINKEDIN

COMMENT

EMAIL

MORE

EVANSVILLE, Ind. — United Neighborhoods of Evansville developed a mobile app to help bring more neighborhoods together.

The new UNOE Neighborhoods app is now available for Android users on the Google Play store, according to the organization's website.

iPhone users will have to wait until the Apple Store makes the app public.

The app was designed to help Evansville residents identify the neighborhood association where they're located. Within the app, users can look up primary neighborhood contacts and view meeting schedules.

The nonprofit's goal is to increase neighborhood participation among residents and to help neighborhoods grow to their potential.