

University South Neighborhood Association
Meeting Memorandum

January 7, 2020

The first meeting for 2020 of the University South Neighborhood Association was held on Tuesday, January 7. The meeting was called to order by Sara Corrigan, with the Pledge of Allegiance.

The current officers of University South Neighborhood Association are: Sara Corrigan, President; Mitch Luman, Vice-President; Shannon Stigleman, Treasurer; and Loraine Luman, Secretary. These people have offered to serve another year but, if you are interested in becoming an officer, please let Sara Corrigan know and a vote will be taken at the February meeting.

Chad Diedrich gave the crime report for incidents that occurred in November and December. Following this, members gave accounts of other activities or concerns that had happened in the area. On Thursday, January 9, at 6:00 will be the South Sector meeting of the Evansville police at 401 E. Columbia, if anyone is interested in attending.

Shannon Stigleman gave the treasurer's report of $303.80.

If anyone is interested in any programs offered for meeting for the upcoming year, please contact Sara.

Great interest was expressed regarding having a combination meeting and picnic in the summertime on a regularly-scheduled Tuesday evening at Triangle Park in the neighborhood. Smoked meat could be supplied and everyone would bring a covered dish. More details will be discussed at later meetings.

Also suggested was again having a neighborhood meeting at Spuds N Stuff at Ross Center. We had previously done this during a meeting in 2019 and it was well received.

The next meeting for University South Neighborhood will be on Tuesday, February 4.

Loraine Luman
USNA Secretary
