August Speaker Highlight

United Neighborhoods of Evansville is pleased to welcome Shawn Dickerson

Evansville Department of Urban Forestry

The Department of Urban Forestry, Evansville Tree Advisory Board, and position of City Arborist were created and began operation in 2001. The City of Evansville has had Tree City USA recognition since 2001 due to it's urban forestry efforts. The Tree Advisory board consists of 7 people, and handles permits for public tree planting, pruning and removal requests, and advises on the development and operation of urban forestry programs. The Department of Urban Forestry manages the city street tree crew, manages the Evansville tree pruner's licensing program, coordinates with other city departments and organizations to promote the planting and care of trees, and educates the public about trees. The city street tree crew prunes and removes dead and hazardous trees or limbs overhanging streets, prunes back streets and alleys that have vegetation rubbing against vehicles, clears roads from tree debris from storms, and plants trees in public areas.

Shawn Dickerson is the Evansville City Arborist since 2001, and has been a member acting agent of the Evansville Tree Advisory Board since then. He is also a Certified Arborist and member of the International Society of Arboriculture. Shawn also volunteers with tree plantings in the city when they are organized, as well as giving tours and classes at Hartman Arboretum, and removing invasives at Northwood during Weed Wrangle events. He also voluntarily helps maintain the Evansville/Vanderburgh Big Tree registry, which is a list of the largest trees in the county.
